Tim,

Thanks for the reply. I will pass your message along – my guess is you would have more to discuss with the folks doing Bay Delta work (BDCP, etc.) than our group. Let us know when you are in town again or want to set something up.

Thanks for the tip about Jack Hansen. I will look for him.

Best,

Hello Heidi:

Thanks for your nice message and sorry for my delayed reply.

Your message came in just as we were transitioning from Lotus Notes to Outlook, so I'm still rounding up all the messages that got caught between the two systems. On a future visit to Sacramento, I'd appreciate a chance to meet with you and your colleagues about interagency collaboration on floodwater management and floodplain conservation/restoration. DWR and EPA are simultaneously working together and at cross-purposes depending on the subject matter, so I'd like to make this venue a place of collaboration.

And good for you on your run for Congress! That would be really cool for you to win that seat.

Make sure to introduce yourself to Jack Hanson, a progressive cattle rancher in the North State and a member of the Lassen County Board of Supervisors. He would be a good ally for you to have.

All the Best, Tim

Tim,

Good to run into you today! You look fresh and energetic as you always did☺ And congratulations on the job!

Just wanted to get you my contact information. I am working directly with Marc Hoshovsky (and Stacy and Terri etc.) on the Conservation Strategy part of the Central Valley Flood Plan. My specific bailiwick is outreach and communication for all of our programs, so no distinct geographic focus. I have been here just about one year, and am still on a bit of a learning curve. Still not sure the bureaucracy is my best fit, after all these years ☺ Feel free to write back with your questions and/or ideas and I can pass them on to the right person here. It would be great to do some collaboration where it fits.

Entirely separately, outside of work, I am in a grassroots campaign for the U.S. Congress, 2014, for District 01, which is the entire Northern part of California except for the coast, north of Auburn. I live in Grass Valley still and am on the southern end of this very rural, red District. I am challenging a Tea Party guy. Feel free to find my campaign page on FB. I also have a website at www.heidihallforcongress.com, if you want to know more. Getting the word out☺

Take care, Tim, and lets catch up some day when you are back in Sackotomatoes.

Best,

Heidi Hall
